The Chisago Lakes Lake Improvement District and the Soil & Water Conservation District (SWCD) have partnered together to provide cost-share incentives for up to 50% ($1,500) of the cost of installing a water quality best management practice (BMP) on residential properties. Projects installed in 2018 include: diversion berms, shoreline restorations, and hillside erosion control practices.

Each year technical assistance is provided to 15 or more landowners who are interested in improving water quality on their property. This year 5 landowners applied for cost-share and 4 completed their projects within the calendar year.
